

CLAIM

I claim that I have researched the above-cited invention and have not found a comparable product patented. This claim is my original idea and solely my invention. I claim that my invention will allow sports persons/and others to carry liquid refreshment with them when engaging in outdoor activities and provide them with a compartment to hold valuable items securely and safely.